AMERICAN BUDDHA ONLINE LIBRARY

What is The American Buddha Online Library?

In year 2000, American Buddha, an Oregon religious nonprofit corporation, established the American Buddha Online Library (ABOL) archive. ABOL seeks to make available selected artistic and literary works under a system of voluntary, free online lending, under the fair use exclusion from copyright liability accorded to libraries and archives pursuant to 17 U.S.C. Section 108. ABOL educates members as to the meaning of lawful fair use of copyrighted materials, and imposes contractual and technical limitations on access to the archive. Piratical use of ABOL content is strictly forbidden, as is the use of mass-downloaders, abusive software, or other predatory Net antics.

For years ABOL asked only that users send an email saying they wanted to join, but better security is now required, and so even you old "JOINers" must join up again. The membership process takes three steps. First, enter a user name and password. Second, read the ABOL Membership Agreement. Third, click "I AGREE" to get access to the content that originally brought you here, and the rest of the ABOL archives.

All of the categories below must be completed to process your application. You can use your full first name if you want, but first initial is sufficient. We may use country and postal code information to confirm that you are not using a proxy server to access the site.

ABOL LIBRARY USE AND ANTI-PIRACY AGREEMENT

The ABOL Online Library User and Anti-Piracy Agreement conditions access to the archives on compliance with fair use limitations and other reasonable conditions of use, and permits revocation of access for noncompliance.

Notice to ABOL Users (37 C.F.R. 201.14)

The copyright law of the United States (title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction.

One of these specific conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Online Library Use and Anti-Piracy Agreement

1. I have requested access to the ABOL archive, which I understand contains creative works that may be copyright-protected;

2. I have read the Notice required by 37 C.F.R. 201.14 above;

3. I agree to use the creative work in compliance with the following requirements:

a. I have provided true current information in the above form. I understand that all my information will be kept confidential and be used exclusively for official communications concerning ABOL membership, and that it will never be sold, leased or licensed to spammers, marketers, or anyone, under any circumstances.

b. I will use the creative work only for private study, scholarship, or research, and understand that I may be liable for copyright infringement if I exceed those uses.

c. I will not engage in any acts of intellectual property piracy with the creative work, and agree to hold ABOL and American Buddha harmless from all liability and costs of defense of any action resulting from a breach of this provision.

d. I will not attempt to download more than one media file at a time, nor will I access the archive or any material to which I gain access through ABOL using mass downloaders or other systems that utilize excess bandwidth or system resources, for any purpose.

e. I will not submit the creative work or related matter as evidence in any legal proceeding.

f. I consent to the jurisdiction of the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon for the resolution of any disputes concerning my use of the creative work.

g. By clicking "I AGREE" below, I show my consent as I would by signing a paper contract, and waive any objection that this agreement is not in writing.

Re: American Buddha
The Ralph Nader Library

Dear Mr. Carreon:

I represent Penguin Group (USA) Inc., publisher under its imprint, Penguin Classics, of the new translation of The Golden Ass by Apuleius.

Your client, the online Ralph Nader Library, a project of American Buddha, has posted the entire text of this new translation online, without permission or license from Penguin, the copyright owner of the translation. While the underlying work is in the public domain, the translation is fully protected by copyright as a derivative work.

The reproduction and distribution online of the translation are violations of Penguin's copyright. The reproduction and distribution of an entire copyrighted work in these circumstances is not fair use under Section 107 of the Copyright Act. Nor is there any privilege or exemption available under Section 108 of the Copyright Act. Section 108 permits libraries and archives to reproduce and distribute copies under certain circumstances. However, Section 108 does not apply to virtual-only libraries and archives, those that do not conduct their operations through physical premises. The online Nader Library is thus not eligible to take advantage of the Section 108 exceptions. The Section 108 Study Group Report (March 2008), sponsored by the United States Copyright Office and the Library of Congress, made no recommendation that Section 108 be amended to cover virtual-only libraries and archives.

On behalf of Penguin, I request that your client immediately remove the Penguin work from its online library and confirm that in writing. We look forward to your client's prompt cooperation so that any legal action may be avoided.

Re: The Golden Ass

Dear Mr. Dannay:

Responding to your letter of today's date received as PDF via email, according to the volume in question, the copyright on the 1998 translation of the ancient classic The Golden Ass of Apuleius, is held by the author, E.J. Kenney. According to the U.S. Copyright Office, Mr. Kenney does not appear to have registered his copyright. I have printed the relevant search page into the PDF that is sent herewith. Accordingly, I would respectfully request that you clarify your standing as counsel pertinent to this title before we proceed to discuss it further.

Re: American Buddha
The Ralph Nader Library

Dear Mr. Carreon:

This replies to your December 18 letter, which I received by ordinary mail today, responding to my letter of the same date sent by email.

I believe your letter confuses copyright registration and copyright ownership. My client, Penguin Group (USA) Inc., is the publisher of the E.J. Kenney translation of The Golden Ass by Apuleius. Penguin holds the exclusive publishing rights in the translation under contract with the translator. Penguin is, therefore, the copyright owner with respect to the rights exclusively licensed, 17 U.S.C. § 101 (“copyright owner” definition) and § 106, and has standing to sue for their infringement, 17 U.S.C. § 501(a), (b). Registration of copyright is not a condition of copyright protection, 17 U.S.C. § 408(a), and may be made at any time before suit is filed, 17 U.S.C. § 411(a).

In short, Penguin is the copyright owner of the rights your client, the online Ralph Nader Library (project of American Buddha), has infringed. Your client has reproduced and distributed the entire translation online, violating Penguin’s exclusive rights of copyright. Reproduction and distribution of an entire copyrighted work is not fair use under Section 107 of the Copyright Act. And your client is not qualified for the Section 108 exception, which does not apply to virtual-only libraries and archives, i.e., those that do not conduct their operations through physical premises.

Cowan, Liebowitz & Latman, P.C.

Charles Carreon, Esq.

As the Senate Report accompanying the DMCA states:

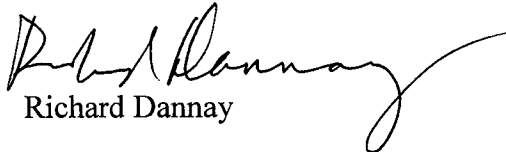

[T]he Committee wants to make clear that, just as when section 108 of the Copyright Act was first enacted, the term “libraries” and “archives” as used and described in this provision still refer to such institutions only in the conventional sense of entities that are established as, and conduct their operations through, physical premises in which collections of information may be used by researchers and other members of the public. Although online interactive digital networks have since given birth to online digital “libraries” and “archives” that exist only in the virtual (rather than physical) sense on websites, bulletin boards and homepages across the Internet, it is not the Committee’s intent that section 108 as revised apply to such collections of information. The ease with which such sites are established online literally allows anyone to create his or her own digital “library” or “archives.” The extension of the application of section 108 to all such sites would be tantamount to creating an exception to the exclusive rights of copyright holders that would permit any person who has an online website, bulletin board or a homepage to freely reproduce and distribute copyrighted works. Such an exemption would swallow the general rule and severely impair the copyright owners’ right and ability to commercially exploit their copyrighted works. Consequently, the Committee intends that references to “the premises of the library or archives” in amended sections 108(b)(2) and (c)(2) mean only physical premises.

S. Rep. No. 105-190, at 62.

On behalf of Penguin, I again request that your client immediately remove the Penguin work from its online library and confirm that in writing to me. And we again request your client’s prompt compliance so that legal action may be avoided.

Please send your response (or a copy) by email.

Sincerely yours,

Richard Dannay

Re: The Golden Ass

Dear Mr. Dannay:

It has always been American Buddha's policy to adhere to its own reasonably-interpreted understanding of the copyright laws. While conceding nothing in your letter of today's date, either factually or legally, it refers to the DMCA, which establishes a point of potential agreement between us. American Buddha always responds with alacrity to every properly-formed DMCA notice that it receives. Since your letter seems to assert the grounds that would entitle your client, if it were able to make the same statements under oath and with the other requirements set forth in 17 U.S.C. § 512(c)(3), to serve a DMCA notice on American Buddha's designated agent for service of DMCA notices, my client would invite that action. As shown on the form filed with the U.S. Copyright office, a copy of which is enclosed herewith, American Buddha is an OSP, and its agent for service of DMCA notices is Mr. Jacob Hammond, whose email address is as shown on the form, enclosed herewith – jacobhammond@gmail.com. (His street address has changed and needs to be amended, so please use email to send any DMCA notice.) Upon receipt of the DMCA notice, which includes averment of authorization to act on behalf of the copyright-holder, American Buddha will respond to your demand with a prompt takedown.

Very truly yours,

Charles Carreon

Re: Notification of Copyright Infringement

Dear Mr. Hammond:

We are intellectual property counsel to Penguin Group (USA) Inc. ("Penguin"), copyright owner of the new translation by E. J. Kenney of The Golden Ass by Apuleius (the "Work"). It has come to our attention that the website located at www.naderlibrary.com (the "Website") has, without permission or license from Penguin, posted the entire text of the Work online. This letter is to serve as notification of this infringement pursuant to Section 512(c) of the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 512(c).

The WHOIS information for the Website indicates that the Administrative Contact for the site is Charles Carreon; and a notice on the Website itself directs that "DMCA Notices [be sent] to The Ralph Nader Library's Legal Representative" via a link to Mr. Carreon's email address, chas@charlescarreon.com. Mr. Carreon, however, has represented to us that the service provider for the Website is American Buddha, an Oregon nonprofit religious corporation, and that you are American Buddha's agent for service of DMCA notices. (You are in fact designated on the Copyright Office's Directory of Service Provider Agents as Agent for American-Buddha.com and for American Buddha Online Library; however, as far as we can determine no designation of an Agent for the Website has been effected in the Copyright Office.)

Accordingly, we provide the following information pursuant to 17 U.S.C. § 512(c)(3)(A):

1. The copyrighted work infringed is the translation by E. J. Kenney of The Golden Ass by Apuleius.
2. The infringing material is located at a series of URLs within the Website beginning www.naderlibrary.com/goldenass.\*\*\*.

3. You may contact Penguin Group (USA) Inc. through its undersigned counsel at Cowan, Liebowitz & Latman, P.C., 1133 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10036, telephone (212) 790-9200, email rxl@cjl.com.
4. We believe in good faith that the use of the Work on the Website is not authorized by Penguin, its agent, or the law.
5. The information in this notification is accurate; and, under penalty of perjury, we are authorized to act on behalf of Penguin, the owner of the exclusive rights in the Work infringed by the Website.

We therefore demand that you immediately remove the infringing material from the Website, and confirm such removal to the undersigned within five days of the date hereof. The foregoing is without prejudice to any of our client's rights, remedies and defenses, all of which are expressly reserved.

Sincerely,

Re: Counternotice to DMCA Notice of Penguin Books

Dear Mr. Hammond:

Pursuant to 17 U.S.C. 512(g)(3), this is a counternotice in response the notice of Penguin Books alleging that American Buddha has infringed a copyright in The Golden Ass of Apuleius by means of producing a copy of the text of the book on webpages at NaderLibrary.com.

In compliance with subsection (A), this notice bears my electronic signature, acting as the attorney for American Buddha, the subscriber. In compliance with subsection (B), the material that has been removed was located at http://www.naderlibrary.com/goldenass.\*\*\*.

In compliance with subsection (C), I hereby state under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the subscriber has a good faith belief that the material was removed due mistaken misapplication of the applicable law of copyright, including without limitation: Penguin Books' refusal to accord the American Buddha Online Library the exemption from liability granted by 17 U.S.C. § 108 and the First Amendment, notwithstanding the subscriber's compliance with 37 C.F.R. 201.14; the Constitutional right of fair use under 17 U.S.C. § 107; the first-sale doctrine; and, because of mistakes of fact. No defenses are waived by the foregoing enumeration which does not purport to be exclusive. In compliance with subsection (D), the subscriber's name, address, and telephone number are as follows:

"We have a government of the Exxons, by the General Motors, for the Duponts" -- Ralph Nader

One man tells it like it is -- the world's most powerful corporate families have the rest of the world in a death grip. Our wealth, our health, the health of the planet and the life of future generations are all falling prey to their insatiable greed. One man tells it like it is -- the two parties of the old political system have been so twisted by corporate corruption that they are incapable of advancing initiatives that benefit flesh-and-blood people. Our elections are a mockery of honest balloting, as herds of voters, driven in circles of confusion by incessant polling reports on hot-button issues, descend on paperless polling stations or are supplied with ambiguous ballots, so that their votes can be interpreted in whatever way the software-hacker chooses. The Democrats now treat all liberals like they have traditionally treated

From "Independent Politics," by Howard Hawkins: Could Nader Win?

Furthermore, Nader's impact could be far greater than that of a potential spoiler for Kerry. The 2000 National Election Survey data show that only 9 percent of voters who preferred Nader actually voted for him. Fifty percent of Nader supporters didn't vote at all. Twenty-six percent of Nader supporters voted for Gore as the lesser evil to Bush. And 19 percent of Nader supporters voted for Bush as the lesser evil to Gore.

If all the voters who preferred Nader had voted for him in 2000, he would have won the election, receiving 54 million votes to Bush's 43 million and Gore's 38 million (if we add the Nader supporters who voted for their lesser evil to Nader's total and subtract them from Bush and Gore's totals). (These numbers are derived from Harvard political scientist Barry Burden's 2001

African American voters -- taking them for granted because they have no better choice. And only one man has had the courage to stand up to this two-headed monster, this thief of the rights of the people. You guessed it. Ralph Nader.

The Mariel Boat-Lift

The Mariel Boat-lift was perhaps Fidel Castro's cleverest exploit in the service of the revolution. Taking Uncle Sam up on his offer to allow some Cubans to leave for Miami, he simultaneously emptied the Mariel mental asylum for the criminally insane of its burgeoning masses. leaving it to our generous nation to attend to their welfare. Hunter Thompson recorded the stateside consequences of Fidel's strategic end-run of our immigration policy in a paragraph that showcases Hunter's fanatical dedication to the economical use of periods, which after all, only stop the action:

The Mariel Boat-Lift

by Hunter S. Thompson from Songs of the Doomed, Copyright 1990 by Hunter S. Thompson

"The Silk Road" is a story about people who got caught in the fast and violent undercurrents and, finally, the core of the action of the great Cuba-to-Key West Freedom Flotilla in the spring of 1980—a bizarre and massively illegal "sea lift" which involved literally thousands of small private boats that brought more than 100,000 very volatile Cuban refugees to this country in less than three months and drastically altered the social, political, and economic realities of South Florida for the rest of this century.

By 1980, the billion-dollar drug-smuggling industry and influx of Latin-American millionaire refugees had turned Miami into the Hong Kong of the Western World and the cash capital of the United States. It was also the nation's murder capital, with a boomtown economy based on the smuggling of everything from drugs and gold bullion to guns and human beings. What Havana was to the 1950s, Marseilles to the '60s, and Bangkok to the '70s, Miami is to the '80s .....

The Freedom Flotilla began on April Fools Day. In less than two weeks the Coast Guard had abandoned all hope of stopping the boat traffic; the port of Key West was overwhelmed, and any boat longer than fifteen feet was for sale or rent. Cubans from Miami roamed the bars and local docks with fistfuls of hundred dollar bills, and drug smugglers had already begun to take advantage of the general confusion and the helplessness of the Coast Guard. Not even the White House or the U.S. Marines could stop the tidal wave of Cubans pouring into South Florida.

To accelerate the exodus of refugees already granted 'asylum at the Peruvian embassy in Havana, Castro put out the word: Miami's Cubans could take out one relative for every four refugees taken from Cuba to America. The reaction of the Miami Cuban community was near hysteria. The ISO-mile length of Highway A1A from Key West to Miami-became strangled by a huge caravan of destitute refugees in busloads with blacked-out windows, headed north; and the south-bound lane was jammed with Cuban Americans towing a strange armada of fiberglass speedboats, cabin cruisers, and ungainly fishing boats .... All this in a constant frenzy of traffic through police and military roadblocks all along the way.

As the traffic jam got Worse, pockets of stranded people began to build up in places along the way. There was simply no way to move on the highway without risk or delay.

People who lived in the Keys were afraid to go anywhere at all: you could go out for a drink on Wednesday night and not get back home until Friday. What was "easy money" in April became a shit rain by May ... but by that time the thing was out of control; and the going price for refugees was still $1,000 a head.

The locals began turning on each, other, and growing resentment over the Cuban refugee invasion was compounded by constant TV news bulletins about the national humiliation of the Iran Hostage Crisis. People began carrying guns and hunkering down wherever they could be sure of getting a drink.

One of these pockets of doom along Highway A1A was an isolated fishing resort called Spanish Key Lodge, about twenty miles up the island chain from Key West—a sprawling, run-down motel and marina with its own airstrip and a twenty-four-hour liquor license, owned by a former prosecutor from Philadelphia named Frank Mont, who came to the Keys to get rich.

The chaos of the Cuban refugee invasion and the resulting nightmare at Spanish Key is the baseline of the narrative: a once-lazy backwater fishing resort is transmogrified, overnight, into a seething fortress 'of thieves, smugglers, and criminally insane Cuban refugees, who soon take it over completely, by force of sheer numbers.

Best Wishes, Fidel

My father was a great fan of Fidel, who cleaned up the noxious gangland of Havana, and turned it back into what the Spanish called it, the "Pearl of the Antilles." The embargo has been a blessing that has allowed Cuba to develop the future's most valuable resource, an undamaged ecosystem.
